The University of Wisconsin—Madison
School of Social Work

The University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Social Work invites applications for two faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 27, 2012. Applicants should show evidence for the ability to achieve excellence in a program of research in any area of specialization relevant to social work. Individuals with a program of research related to issues of diversity are particularly encouraged to apply. Applicants also should show evidence of the potential for or demonstrated excellence in teaching. An ability to teach in all program levels (i.e., undergraduate, master's, doctoral) is required. An M.S.W. and professional social work practice experience are preferred. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Social Work or a related field by the start of the appointment. An affiliation with the Chicano/Latino Studies Program or other ethnic studies programs is available.

To apply, please send the following documents electronically: a cover letter describing your qualifications, program of research, and teaching interests; a curriculum vitae; teaching materials (if available); copies of publications or other writing samples of scholarly work; and three letters of reference to facultysearchcommittee@socwork.wisc.edu. Questions can be sent to Professor Dan Meyer (drmeyer1@wisc.edu). Documents that cannot be sent electronically may be mailed to:

Professor Dan Meyer, Search Committee Chair
School of Social Work
University of Wisconsin-Madison
