Responsibilities

- Conduct trainings, presentations, webinars, and workshops in conjunction with BWJP events or outside agencies upon request.
- Participate in the development of training events, from the choice of appropriate themes, topics, and learning objectives, to the creation of dynamic agendas and the selection of compelling speakers and trainers.
- Develop and implement special projects aimed to improve justice system responses to gender-based violence, including analysis of systemic problems and their causes, in order to design assessment activities to uncover how these problems are produced.
- Write or contribute articles on related topics for BWJP’s newsletter and website as assigned.
- Maintain active communication with OVW grantees to assess their TA needs and priorities, and provide individual consultation to grantees on issues arising in their community’s handling of DV/SA cases.
- Keep accurate records on technical assistance activities for mandatory progress reports submitted to funders.
- Consult with other allied organizations or government agencies on related local or national projects, upon request.
- Other duties as assigned by supervisor.

Requirements

- Substantial experience in social justice policy advocacy, institutional analysis, and/or systems change work. Experience in organizing coordinated community responses to domestic violence and justice system change work related to addressing violence against women preferred. Experience with batterers intervention programs or related work with offenders desired.
- Related education in public policy, criminal justice studies, macro-level social work, or law.
- Outstanding ability to apply critical thinking and an intersectional analysis to identify and promote effective policies and practices.
- Demonstrated experience in conducting trainings and public speaking; experience with training justice personnel and advocates desirable.
- Understanding of and commitment to issues of cultural diversity as they pertain to prevention, intervention, and services, as well as to addressing the needs of underserved communities.
- Demonstrated, exceptional oral communication and writing skills.
- Ability to work well with diverse groups and to work effectively as part of a team.
