I. Course Description

This course prepares students for generalist social work practice in a multicultural society. It discusses Afro-Americans, Hispanics, American Indians, and Asian Americans, and implications are drawn for social policy.

Attributes and Designations: This course counts toward 50% graduate coursework requirement.

Requisites: Must be a Social Work or Social Welfare Major

How credit hours are met: This class meets for one 115 class period each week over the spring semester and carries the expectation that students will work on course learning activities (reading, writing, studying) for about four hours out of classroom. The syllabus includes additional information about meeting times and expectations for student work.

II. Course Overview

This required course is part of the Human Behavior and Social Environment sequence in the Generalist Practice curriculum. This course prepares students for generalist social work practice in a multicultural and inequitable society. This course privileges an ecosystems perspective to social work and places emphasis on understanding how racial and ethnic categorization, but especially institutionalized racism and oppression impact the lived experiences and life chances of persons and groups within American society. Under current social welfare policy, the perception and the reality of the gender and race of the recipients shape both social policy and social work practice. Toward these goals, we shall examine how racial categories differ from ethnic groups, how racial classification powerfully organizes peoples’ identities and experiences, privileges and opportunities in the U.S., and how racial oppression intersects with other forms of oppression, such as those along class, gender, sexual orientation, language, and citizenship lines, to maintain durable inequalities in and across U.S. social and economic institutions. By the end of this course, students will gain a more critical understanding of racial and ethnic identification (an opportunity to explore their own racial identity). Students will come to a deeper understanding of how the history of racial inequity and oppression in the U.S. currently impacts lives of marginalized groups and individuals. This information and understanding will support critical thinking and understanding of the need for anti-racist/anti-oppressive social work practice in collaborative work toward social justice.

III. Learning Outcomes: Competency Descriptions and Dimensions

Social Work Education is framed by a competency-based approach to curriculum design. At the conclusion of their education, social work students are expected to be competent in 9 core areas. Competency is achieved through mastery of course content as measure through course activities, readings and assignments and behaviors learned in field experiences, and which are derived from social work knowledge, values, skills and cognitive and affective processes. The objective of this course is to help students to demonstrate understanding and mastery of the knowledge, values, skills and cognitive and affective processes relevant to the competencies described in Appendix A.

Assignments

I. Lecture Preparation and Attendance

In order to engage in meaningful learning students will be asked to participate in small and large group discussions, as well as, lead the class in discussion around required readings. Twice during the semester, each student (along with 2 or 3 other students assigned to that day) will help introduce and initiate the broader class discussion of the current week’s lecture and readings. There is no requirement for group preparation here, each student will prepare and be evaluated individually.
The instructor will give a list the first day of class assigning each student the dates they will need to present all readings are available in the texts or on the course canvas site. Each student can earn up to 10 points per designated opportunity, and 20 points total.

Use these guidelines to help you think about the analyze and is discuss the readings:
- what portions of the readings resonated for you?
- what questions rose from the reading which the class could discuss?
- how will/can you apply your analysis and understanding of the readings to your personal practice as a social worker?
- what are the implications to the social work profession as a whole?

2. Writing assignments

Writing Assistance: Success in graduate school and within the larger profession of social work depends on strong writing skills. Several resources are available to help students strengthen their professional and academic writing skills.

(a) Two Critical Reflection Papers – Due by February 26, and April 23 respectively

Over the course of the semester, you will be required to write (2) critical reflection papers based on readings and course materials. For this assignment you should choose a reading [or audio assignment] from the syllabus.

Each paper is due (at student option of assigned reading) on the date the reading is assigned. Students must submit the first paper by February 26, and no later than the beginning of class on the day the subject reading is assigned. The second paper is due by April 23, and no later than the beginning of class on the day the subject reading is assigned.

In each paper, you should formally and critically evaluate (not simply summarize) what you have read and respond with your own perspective by discussing the following:

- What is the main point of the text? (3 points)
- What issue(s) about race or ethnicity did the material raise for you as the reader? (5 points)
- Overall, how would you (not the author), explain any implications for social work practice or policy based on this reading? Be specific. (7 points)

The Critical Reflection Papers should not be less than 3-4 pages maximum, and you can earn up to 15 points for each paper.

(b) Social Justice Advocacy in Practice Paper – Due May 7th

Consider your future in social work. This assignment calls for a reflective analysis of your previous ideas about race and inequity, current learning and future application of that learning.

- Reflect on your own ideas about race, ethnicity and systems of power and inequality. - (5 points)
  - From your past, where did your ideas about these issues come from?
• How have your life experiences influenced your views on these issues?

• What new learnings and insight have you gained about systems of power and how marginalized people live within such systems that changed those previous views - (10 points). Talk about how your understanding of these issues have changed from what you were taught or what you understood before. Be sure to draw from at least three (3) sources covered by the required reading, and at least one (1) outside sources to illustrate your discussion.

• Describe how these insights will inform your future social work practice - (10 points).

  o How will your understanding and practice of cultural humility help you interact with and relate to marginalized people and people most impacted by systems of inequity?

  o How will your better understanding of how of systems of power and privilege help you support them in their goals and plans?

• Clarity and depth of thought - (5 points).

Format:
The body of the paper is 6-8 pages maximum (not counting cover and reference pages). Your paper should be well organized with an introduction and conclusion, as well as written concisely with depth and a critical approach to the material. Use at least 3 citations from our reading or from other sources.

VII. Course Policies

Attendance

Students are expected to attend class. Attendance will be taken periodically at the beginning of class. Un-excused absences may affect your grade. Loss of one letter grade will occur after 3 un-excused absences, 2 letter grades after 6 un-excused absences. You must take responsibility for contacting the instructor prior to class if you are ill, etc., and will not be able to attend class.

Students are responsible for completing any class requirements for the day missed, and for obtaining from a fellow classmate any assignments, materials, and communications missed due to absence, late arrival, or early departure.

Students who must be absent due to inclement weather or other emergencies should contact the instructor prior to the start of class to be considered for an excused absence.

Inclement Weather Policy

- If there is inclement weather, students will be expected to check their email prior to leaving for class to confirm whether classes are cancelled.
- If classes are not cancelled but an individual student concludes he/she cannot safely travel to reach his/her class site, the student must contact his/her instructor(s) regarding his/her plan to not travel. This absence will be considered excused and makeup work may be assigned.

- If classes are cancelled students will be informed via email of what they may need to do to engage in course materials remotely for that class session.

Late Assignment Policy
The assignments listed above are due at the beginning of the class period on the date specified. Students who believe they have a legitimate reason for turning in a late assignment should contact the instructor prior to the due date. Unapproved late assignments will be marked down two points for each day they are late.

Reading Assignments
You are expected to have read all assigned material prior to the class date under which the readings are listed above. Reading and critically evaluating what you have read is necessary so that you can learn, actively participate in class discussions, and successfully complete written assignments.

Written Assignment Policy
All written assignments are to be either typed or computer-generated. Please format these assignments using one-inch margins, double-spacing, and a Times New Roman 12-point font. Always include a cover sheet (not counted as one of the required pages) with the title of the paper, your name, the date turned into the instructor, course number, and course title (do not put this information on the first page of your paper). All assignments should be checked thoroughly for correct spelling and grammar.

Grading Questions
The grades you receive on assignments will be wholly based on (1) the extent to which you respond to assignment objectives, (2) the quality of your writing (especially, organization, and clarity), and (3) your ability to demonstrate critical thinking and write with depth. If there are assignment instructions that are unclear to you, you should bring this to my attention and do so in a timely manner. If you have an issue with a grade on an assignment, please document your reasons in writing with specific attention to the three points above. Next, email the document to your instructor, who will give your concerns fair and careful attention.

Accommodations
Those students requiring accommodation for meeting class expectations, as approved by the McBurney Center, must provide the instructor with a copy of their Verified Individualized Services and Accommodation (VISA) in the first week of the semester. Please contact the McBurney Center at www.mcburney.wisc.edu; Email at mcburney@odos.wisc.edu; Phone at 608-263-2741; NEW—reach by text messaging at 608-225-7956; or by FAX at 608-265-2998, 711 (Via relay); Address is 1305 Linden Drive, Madison, WI 53706

Student Behavior Policy
In order to learn, we must be open to the views of people different from ourselves. Each voice in the classroom is important and brings with it a wealth of experiences, values and beliefs. In this time we share together over the semester, please honor the uniqueness of your classmates, and appreciate the opportunity we have to learn from each other. Please respect your fellow other opinions and refrain from personal attacks or demeaning comments of any kind. Finally, remember to keep confidential all issues of a personal or professional nature discussed in class.
We will spend time on the first day creating additional group rules to build feelings of psychological safety and respect.

Use of Technology in the Classroom
To learn, you must be respectful to your classmates, teaching assistant and instructor by using technology appropriately in the classroom. Please turn off your cell phones at the start of class, do not send or receive text messages and do not use laptops for anything other than taking lecture notes.

Code of Ethics, Professional Conduct & Plagiarism
Incoming BSW and MSW students read and signed electronic forms of the NASW Code of Ethics, the School of Social Work Plagiarism Policy and the School’s Principles of Professional Conduct. In doing so, they agreed that while in the BSW or MSW Program they would honor the Code of Ethics and Principles of Professional Conduct, as well as adhere to the Plagiarism Policy and that should they not do so, sanctions would be imposed. BSW and MSW students are expected to adhere to these policies in the classroom and in the preparation, of course assignments.

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is a form of academic misconduct, which is not tolerated by the University or the School of Social Work. Plagiarism seeks to claim credit for the work or effort of another without citation or authorization.

The School of Social Work defines plagiarism as:
1. The appropriation of passages or complete works of another person and submitting them as one’s own work – in either written materials or speeches.
2. The presentation of ideas of others as one’s own without giving credit.

There are two major forms of plagiarism:
1. Using direct quotes from others’ written or spoken work and presenting them as one’s own words without using proper quotation marks or offsetting and/or with failure to identify the source of the ideas.
2. Paraphrasing the ideas or research findings of another person(s), with failure to identify the source of the ideas.

Note that slight changes to the author’s original text, even with a citation, is plagiarism. Please see http://writing.wisc.edu/Handbook/QPA_paraphrase.html

Process:
- If an instructor suspects a student has plagiarized, the instructor will contact the student to discuss their concern.
- If the instructor determines that the student has plagiarized, the instructor will decide on a sanction in accordance with the misconduct rules in UWS 14.

Sanction:
- Based on the seriousness of the sanction, the instructor may inform the Dean of Student’s Office. The only sanctions that can be imposed without notifying the Dean of Students Office are: 1) oral reprimand; 2) written reprimand presented only to the student; and 3) an assignment to repeat the work on its merits.
- More serious sanctions may include a zero on the assignment or exam, a lower grade in the course or failure in the course. The School of Social Work will inform the Dean of Student’s Office when imposing any of these sanctions. This action is taken so the Dean of Student’s Office can decide whether to seek additional sanctions.

- Repeated acts of academic misconduct may result in more serious actions such as removal from the course in progress, disciplinary probation or suspension, or expulsion (http://www.students.wisc.edu/doso/acadintegrity.html).
- Note: Students can appeal any sanctions.
