

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Public Child Welfare Training Program

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

Youth Thrive: A Pathway to Well-being for Youth in Foster Care

Susan Notkin, MSSW

Associate Director, Center for the Study of Social Policy

Spring Public Child Welfare Dialogue

Ms. Notkin has been working on behalf of children and families for over 30 years, designing and managing an array of innovative public and private initiatives. She started out as a child-care teacher in 1976, and her interest in child welfare dates from the late 1970s, when she worked as a counselor in one of the nation's first shelters for battered women in Madison, Wis. Today, Ms. Notkin is Associate Director at the Center for the Study of Social Policy (CSSP) and manages the organization's work on systems reform.

Ms. Notkin holds a master's degree in social work from the University of Wisconsin.

Friday, March 3, 2017

10am—12pm

Discovery Building, Orchard Room
330 N Orchard St

.2 CEUs Offered

Dialogues are free and open to the public. Please notify portier@wisc.edu by Friday, February 24 if you plan to attend.

The Public Child Welfare Training Program operates with federal funds made available through Title IV-E of the Social Security Act, which provides specified financial support for students committed to a career in public child welfare.

If you need an accommodation to attend this event, please contact Bill Heiss (waheiss@wisc.edu). All accommodation requests should be made no less than two weeks before the event. We will attempt to fulfill requests made after this date but cannot guarantee they will be met.

The School of Social Work at the University of Wisconsin-Madison is an approved continuing education provider of CEUs/ CEHs per State of Wisconsin Statute MPSW 19.03(1)(f).