Dr. Lynette M. Renner (she/her/hers) is a Professor, Director of the PhD Program, and Director of Graduate Studies in the School of Social Work at the University of Minnesota. Her research focuses on intimate partner violence and child maltreatment, with particular attention to risk and protective factors; behavioral, mental health, and parenting outcomes; help-seeking strategies; and healthcare, legal, and therapeutic interventions. The goal of her scholarship is to support the well-being of children, adults, and families who experience interpersonal violence through the development and adaptation of interventions and cross-system partnerships. Dr. Renner has presented nationally and internationally in the area of intimate partner and family violence and her work has been funded by the U.S. Office on Women's Health and the National Institute of Justice. She is looking forward to returning to UW-Madison for this Public Child Welfare Dialogue, where she earned a PhD in Social Welfare.
